Job Match Review

This section describes the key behavior and thinking traits in order of their importance to the job. Consider how each trait might impact Jerico in the job of Team: Executive Assistant.

Higher Impact

Structure

Jerico is receptive to working within an established structure. He tends to be calm and deliberate when implementing his chosen methods and systems. He displays good focus and consistency in his work habits.

Logical Problem Solving

Jerico is able to work on bigger problems by methodically breaking them down into smaller issues.

Vocabulary

Jerico can readily understand most concepts in the workplace. He is interested in learning and new ideas. He retains information and is able to use learned ideas to solve new problems. He has the ability to pick up on some nuance of communication.

Medium Impact

Rapid Problem Solving

Jerico is able to use a quick and intuitive approach to solving problems. He likes having new issues to tackle every day. He can make a decision and move to the next one.

Adaptability

Jerico is a sincere person who is genuinely interested in making people feel comfortable. He will normally adjust to the needs of others and will refrain from actions that may cause unpleasantness. He is assertive, but he will achieve his goals through diplomatic persistence and by seeking cooperation from others.

Spatial Visualization

Lower Impact

Responsiveness

Jerico is not quick to express strong reactions as he likes to think things through before interjecting his views or moving forward. While he has a take-charge attitude and manner, his emphasis is on reason and deliberation rather than a rapid response time.

Sociability

Jerico is purposeful and fairly reserved in his social style. He is, however, able to adjust to a socially active role requiring him to work with people and function as an authority and a problem-solver. He can be cordial and forthcoming, but he avoids getting emotionally involved with people problems and interpersonal conflicts.

Assertiveness

Jerico is aggressive and goal-directed. He searches for more effective ways to accomplish his objectives, and he will be deliberate in order to achieve decisive outcomes.

Intensity

When faced with obstacles, Jerico responds directly and strives to initiate change. He experiences a high level of emotional intensity on the job.

Optimism

Jerico typically expresses favorable views of people and situations. While he doesn't have a need for constant social contact, he does want to make a positive impression. He may tend to see positives no matter what the objective situation is and can be overly optimistic in how he sees things.

Operating Style

A person's behavior and thinking traits combine together in unique ways to impact the way he or she works with and communicates with others.

Communication

Jerico is very willing to express and promote his ideas and to interact freely with a range of personalities, especially as he gets to know them. He is not distracted by opposition, and he can be steadfast in executing his agenda. He emphasizes facts and practical benefits and uses the strength of his resolve to be persuasive. He is confident and decisive. He will stick with what he believes to be correct and will be straightforward in his communications. He can be assertive, especially as he gets to know people. He can be straight forward and rather matter-of-fact in his communications, and he tends to speak with authority and conviction.

Decision Making

Jerico is a pragmatist who is apt to be most receptive to opposing arguments founded on objective reasoning rather than emotional appeals. Being confident and decisive, he is very willing to troubleshoot and to take the lead in managing obstacles independently. He will be persistent and determined in his actions. He takes a positive and direct approach in making decisions. He has a need to know the facts but will not get bogged down in minutiae. He is not stalled by differences of opinion or staunch resistance. He can be persistent and firm in his conclusions but will not be impulsive.

Ideal Environment

Jerico is at his best in a dynamic and challenging work environment. He is motivated by jobs that reward his need to take action after deliberating on the issues. He seeks latitude and the absence of very tight supervision or highly restrictive procedures. He can work with pre-established processes that make sense to him. He will function best in situations where he can work on his own as well as with others.

Ideal Supervisor

Jerico is motivated by competition and the promise of reasonable autonomy in his daily work. His ideal supervisor will provide an overall structure and methodology while allowing Jerico the opportunity to establish his own day-to-day procedures. He will be most effective when given the time to work through issues and not be under pressure to act impulsively. Jerico provides his own motivation, but he will want regular feedback. His ideal supervisor is a confident and decisive person who is comfortable delegating and providing him with challenging objectives to accomplish.

Team Dynamics

Jerico will be acknowledged for his determination and persistence and will take on assignments which reward this. He is an assertive, self-assured person who enjoys making a decisive impact and actively promoting his ideas. He is calm and patient in his dealings with others. He can be assertive when he is confident in his actions. In a group, he is very willing to participate in a supportive role as well as lead and actively direct others in areas of expertise.

Descriptive Review

Jerico's traits do not exist in isolation of each other. Each trait impacts the others. Below is an integrated view of Jerico. As you read this section, consider how Jerico might perform as a Team: Executive Assistant.

Jerico will work best in a position that rewards taking action in a methodical manner. In working with others, he will be deliberate and consistent. He will prefer to control the number of activities he takes on at a time so he can complete each to his satisfaction. He is aggressive and quickly decisive. He has a natural tendency to take action, and he likes to see the impact of his behavior. He is a quick problem solver, although fairly patient in his actions. He normally controls his reactions and prefers to function at a careful, deliberate pace while being correct and organized in his thinking.

He will be seen as quite adaptable to the needs and expectations of other people. He will not compromise his basic beliefs or standards but will go out of his way to avoid unnecessary confrontation. Although assertive, he will try to achieve his goals quietly through securing the agreement of others rather than through open conflict. He prefers a well-structured organizational framework to direct his work initiatives. He values stability and order and likes consistency more than rapid change. He is assertive and will want to push ahead with his goals, but will want to make sure he is correct. He is a doer who concentrates on his own performance rather than attempting to direct or influence others. He will be direct in his approach in leading others.

Jerico will interact with people in a businesslike or polite manner. He is most at ease with people he knows and will be purposeful in seeking out new relationships. He tends to have a cheerful and upbeat attitude almost all of the time. He is emotionally intense when dealing with frustration and issues at work. He engages obstacles actively and is not happy until he overcomes them.

He likes a work environment that provides a steady flow of new challenges. He is also able to deal with larger, more complex problems when necessary. He will want to actively bring others to accept his conclusions.

1: Job Fit Verification Interview

Review the three steps below before you conduct the interview.

Step One: Prepare for the Interview

1. Thoroughly review the Job Fit Report for Jerico.

2. Study the script and probing suggestions for Jerico; edit the questions and add your own if necessary.

3. Check your mindset—your goal is to be objective.

   - Stay neutral, curious, and *listen
   - Watch your body language — don't nod, agree, cross arms, or lean forward or back
   - It's not a conversation — other than asking questions, don't engage with him and share personal experiences

Step Two: Conduct the Interview

1. Welcome Jerico to the interview and make him comfortable:

   > Jerico, thank you for coming in today. The reason I wanted to meet with you is to get to know you better, and understand some of the things that are important to you. At the end of our discussion, we can both determine if it makes sense to continue our conversation.

2. Introduce the verification process and set expectations:

   > I'm sure you are curious about the Keller Personality Assessment (or KPA) you completed for us, and I am excited to share the results. The report we have received describes your unique combination of traits. Each trait has beneficial aspects, so remember that there is no good or bad combination of traits! My goal is to truly understand who you are and how you operate, and review and edit the report together to get a custom report that is all about you. You are going to hear some great things about yourself—be proud of who you are! Ready to get started?(Big Smile!)

3. Follow the instructions for the Job Considerations, Operating Style and Descriptive Review, beginning each section by reading the heading and the purpose of the section.

4. Take notes throughout the interview, capturing words and phrases Jerico uses as exactly as possible.

Step Three: Decision Point

Decide if Jerico is a good fit with the Team: Executive Assistant job.

1. Verify the report with Jerico, recording his responses in the Candidate Report Rating.

> On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate this report?
> Specifically, what was most accurate?
> What would you say was least accurate?
> Overall, do you have any comments or feedback on the report?

2. STOP if Jerico is not a match, and exit with class:

> Thanks so much for your time today! I've really enjoyed getting to know you. We are in the process of interviewing several other candidates, and will be in touch (provide a date if possible and follow up with a call or email to let Jerico know he did not get the job).
>
> (Or, refer to the job ranking) This role would not make the best use of your talents as you can see, (show Jerico his Job Match Rating) but this/these roles would be an excellent fit (show him his Job Match rating for the role/s). (If you are hiring for that role or can refer Jerico to someone who is) I would be happy to talk to you about that opportunity.
>
> Respond to possible questions:
> What's the next step?
> - I'll review the edits we made today in line with the Job Profile and determine if we have a match.
>
> What's the report for?
> - My goal today was to really get to know you as a person. Now I'll review the edits we made today in line with the Job Profile and determine if we have a match.
>
> Can I have a copy of my report?
> - I'm sorry, while I have shared with you everything generated by the report, we do not release the printed copy.

3. MOVE FORWARD if Jerico is a match:

> You are a close match for this position, and I'd like to continue the interview process. I have some more questions I'd like to ask, and I am sure you will have some questions for me! Let's take a quick break and continue! (Offer a beverage and give Jerico a few minutes to relax.)

Operating Style

Jerico's behavior traits combine together in unique ways to impact the way he works with and communicates with others.

Read each statement below to Jerico. Ask Jerico to assess the accuracy of each statement on a scale of 1 to 10.

Communication

Ask Jerico

On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate the accuracy of the following statements?

Jerico is very willing to express and promote his ideas and to interact freely with a range of personalities, especially as he gets to know them. He is not distracted by opposition, and he can be steadfast in executing his agenda. He emphasizes facts and practical benefits and uses the strength of his resolve to be persuasive. He is confident and decisive. He will stick with what he believes to be correct and will be straightforward in his communications. He can be assertive, especially as he gets to know people. He can be straight forward and rather matter-of-fact in his communications, and he tends to speak with authority and conviction.

Decision Making

Ask Jerico

On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate the accuracy of the following statements?

Jerico is a pragmatist who is apt to be most receptive to opposing arguments founded on objective reasoning rather than emotional appeals. Being confident and decisive, he is very willing to troubleshoot and to take the lead in managing obstacles independently. He will be persistent and determined in his actions. He takes a positive and direct approach in making decisions. He has a need to know the facts but will not get bogged down in minutiae. He is not stalled by differences of opinion or staunch resistance. He can be persistent and firm in his conclusions but will not be impulsive.

Ideal Environment

Ask Jerico

On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate the accuracy of the following statements?

Jerico is at his best in a dynamic and challenging work environment. He is motivated by jobs that reward his need to take action after deliberating on the issues. He seeks latitude and the absence of very tight supervision or highly restrictive procedures. He can work with pre-established processes that make sense to him. He will function best in situations where he can work on his own as well as with others.

Ideal Supervisor

Ask Jerico

On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate the accuracy of the following statements?

Jerico is motivated by competition and the promise of reasonable autonomy in his daily work. His ideal supervisor will provide an overall structure and methodology while allowing Jerico the opportunity to establish his own day-to-day procedures. He will be most effective when given the time to work through issues and not be under pressure to act impulsively. Jerico provides his own motivation, but he will want regular feedback. His ideal supervisor is a confident and decisive person who is comfortable delegating and providing him with challenging objectives to accomplish.

Team Dynamics

Ask Jerico

On a scale of 1 to 10, how would you rate the accuracy of the following statements?

Jerico will be acknowledged for his determination and persistence and will take on assignments which reward this. He is an assertive, self-assured person who enjoys making a decisive impact and actively promoting his ideas. He is calm and patient in his dealings with others. He can be assertive when he is confident in his actions. In a group, he is very willing to participate in a supportive role as well as lead and actively direct others in areas of expertise.

Descriptive Review

Jerico's traits do not exist in isolation of each other; each trait impacts the other. Below is an integrated view of Jerico. Read this section to Jerico and ask him to rate the accuracy of it on a scale of 1 to 10.

Jerico will work best in a position that rewards taking action in a methodical manner. In working with others, he will be deliberate and consistent. He will prefer to control the number of activities he takes on at a time so he can complete each to his satisfaction. He is aggressive and quickly decisive. He has a natural tendency to take action, and he likes to see the impact of his behavior. He is a quick problem solver, although fairly patient in his actions. He normally controls his reactions and prefers to function at a careful, deliberate pace while being correct and organized in his thinking.

He will be seen as quite adaptable to the needs and expectations of other people. He will not compromise his basic beliefs or standards but will go out of his way to avoid unnecessary confrontation. Although assertive, he will try to achieve his goals quietly through securing the agreement of others rather than through open conflict. He prefers a well-structured organizational framework to direct his work initiatives. He values stability and order and likes consistency more than rapid change. He is assertive and will want to push ahead with his goals, but will want to make sure he is correct. He is a doer who concentrates on his own performance rather than attempting to direct or influence others. He will be direct in his approach in leading others.

Jerico will interact with people in a businesslike or polite manner. He is most at ease with people he knows and will be purposeful in seeking out new relationships. He tends to have a cheerful and upbeat attitude almost all of the time. He is emotionally intense when dealing with frustration and issues at work. He engages obstacles actively and is not happy until he overcomes them.

He likes a work environment that provides a steady flow of new challenges. He is also able to deal with larger, more complex problems when necessary. He will want to actively bring others to accept his conclusions.

2: Thought Process Interview

Step One: Prepare for the Thought Process Interview

1. Review the Interview Tips from CV
    - With open-ended questions, the conversation can go in many directions—be prepared to ask great questions, listen, and analyze
2. Study the questions; make edits and add your own if necessary.
3. Check your mindset
    - Stay objective.
    - Be Thorough. Don't skip questions!

Step Two: Conduct the Interview

1. Segue from the Job Fit Verification:

> Thank you for your candor! I'd like to ask a few more questions. Before we get started, would you like to take a break? Can I get you some water/coffee?

2. Take notes throughout the interview, capturing words and phrases Jerico uses as exactly as possible.

Step Three: Decision Point

1. STOP if Jerico is not a match, and exit with class.

> The role we are currently offering would not be the best match for your talents. I'd like to stay in touch and if I hear of anything that would be a good fit for you, I will certainly let you know. I would also be happy to hear from you if you know of anyone who you feel would be a good fit for our organization.

2. MOVE FORWARD if Jerico is a match.

> You are a close match for this position, and I'd like to continue the interview process. Would you be available for another interview tomorrow / later this week / early next week?

3: References

Step One: Prepare

1. Review the reference worksheets.
2. Check your mindset
   - Stay objective
   - Interpret what you hear and don't hear: People may be hesitant to speak negatively—but that doesn't mean they only have good things to say.

Step Two: Check the References

1. Get at least 3 third level references.
2. Ask each of the references you talk with for the name of another reference (not on the original list). This will take you two levels deep.

   > Who else do you know who has experience with Jerico and can give us a different perspective? Do you happen to have their phone number?

3. Use the same script to ask the second-level references for additional references to go three levels deep. If some of the references object to giving names:

   > Reference Objection: I don't know if I should share other names.
   > Interviewer: In our company we have a discipline of identifying other people who have worked with Jerico so we can get to know him better. As a hiring manager, I am held accountable to getting as much feedback as possible. Who do you recommend I talk to so I can get to know Jerico better?

Step Three: Decision Point

1. STOP if Jerico is not a match, and exit with class.
   At this point in the relationship, show respect for the time and effort Jerico has made and end the process in person, on the phone, or with a handwritten note.

   > The role we are offering would not make the most of your incredible talents. I have really enjoyed getting to know you and would like your permission to keep your information on file, so if we do have a position matching your profile and talent in the future, we can bring you back in. Thank you so much for your time, and I look forward to any future opportunities we may be able to share.

2. MOVE FORWARD if Jerico is a match—conduct the defense

4: Life Story Interview

Step One: Prepare for the Life Story Interview

1. Gather several different colored markers and a flipchart.

2. Study the format

My Professional Biography

Dates

Event 1: My Education _____ _____ (date)

Event 2: _____ _____ (date)

Event 3: _____ _____ (date)

Event 4: _____ _____ (date)

3. Check your mindset.

   - Stay objective
   - Remember: It is fine if Jerico brings up personal information as he is interviewed, but you as the interviewer may not ASK about it.

Step Two: Conduct the Interview

1. Position the flip chart right so Jerico is seated right in front. Stand next to the flip chart, so you can see Jerico and write on the flip chart at the same time.

2. Using a black or blue marker, at the top of the flip chart, write “My Professional Biography,” and on the left side, write “Event 1: My Education.”

3. Draw a vertical line about three-fourths of the way across the page to divide right from left, and at the top of the right section of the page, write “Dates.”

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

4. Write the story of their professional journey.

> What we're going to do now is write your professional autobiography together, starting with the last time you were in school and moving forward. It's like your résumé, but we're going to go deeper than that. This is a chronological narrative of the defining events in your life. Inside each event, I'd like to know what you did, what happened, and what you learned.
>
> Let's start with the first event. When did you finish your education?
> (Write the answer under "Dates".)
> What happened?
> (Write the answer under "Event." You may switch colors for each line—it's easier to follow.)
>
> What were your "highs"?
> (Write the answers.)
>
> What disappointments did you have?
> (Write the answers.)
>
> Tell me about what you learned through this experience.
> (Write the answers.)
>
> Anything else you would like to add?
> If yes: (Add the information, then repeat the question until you get a no.)
>
> When no:
> Okay, when was the next major event in your life?
> (Write the answer next to "Event.")
> What was that?
> (Write the answer, for example, "My First Job" or "My Next Job.")

5. Follow the script and continue adding chapters, one at a time, picking up with the question "What happened?"—up to and including their current job or activity.

6. After you are finished, and just for fun, ask the candidate what title they would suggest for their professional biography.

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

Step Three: Decision Point

1. STOP if Jerico is not a match, and exit with class

   At this point in the relationship, show respect for the time and effort Jerico has made and end the process in person, on the phone, or with a handwritten note.

   > The role we are offering would not make the most of your incredible talents. I have really enjoyed getting to know you and would like your permission to keep your information on file, so if we do have a position matching your profile and talent in the future, we can bring you back in. Thank you so much for your time, and I look forward to any future opportunities we may be able to share.

2. MOVE FORWARD if Jerico is a match—segue into the Motivational Interview.

   > This has been great! Thank you for sharing! I am really enjoying learning more about you. Let's take a quick break and continue. (Offer a beverage and give Jerico 5-10 minutes to relax.)

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

5: Motivational Interview

Step One: Prepare

1. Gather at least 4 different colored markers and a flipchart
2. Study the format

3. Have your Candidate Reference List ready
4. Check your mindset
   - Stay objective
   - Remember: It is fine if Jerico brings up personal information as he is interviewed, but you as the interviewer may not ASK about it.

Step Two: Conduct the Interview

1. Position the flip chart so Jerico is seated right in front. You stand next to the flip chart, so you can see Jerico and write on the flipchart at the same time.
2. Start by drawing a vertical line down the center and a horizontal line across the middle, resulting in four squares on the flip chart. Ask him what his two biggest priorities are besides Job and Money, then enter those priorities in the headings for squares 3 and 4.
3. Together, you and Jerico will fill in the details of motivation on the flip chart.

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

4. Capture their vision for the future

> I want you to pretend that you and I are sitting in this room five years from now, and I ask you how the past five years have been. You say, “Awesome!”
>
> Question 1
> What has to happen in the Job dimension of your life for you to be able to say “Awesome” five years from now?
> (Summarize his answer in that upper left square. If he has more than one answer, list each answer in bulleted format.)
> Question 2
> How do you envision that? What would it mean for that to happen?
> (For example: Jerico may have said he/she wants to make a lot of money; you must find out exactly what a lot of money looks like to Jerico. Using a different color marker, enter his answer in the same box.)
>
> Question 3
> Why would that achievement be important to you? How would that make you feel?
> (Using a different color marker, enter their answer in the same box.)
>
> Question 4
> What will having this do for you? What do you get? What impact would this have on you? Give me an example.
> (Using a different color marker, enter their answer in the same box.)

5. Repeat the above questions and process for each of the priorities in the other three squares (Money and the other two). You might also consider adding a fifth square, for which you ask him, “What else is important?” When done, step back and ask if there is anything he would like to add.

6. Review the chart with Jerico. Circle words that stand out. Ask the Jerico if these are the words that really motivate him.

7. Reflect with Jerico whether it’s possible for him to achieve all the things that are important to him through this role, or if their priorities are in conflict. Explore with him whether this job would get him closer to the things he values most.

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

Step Three: Decision Point

1. STOP if Jerico is not a match, and exit with class.
   At this point in the relationship, show respect for the time and effort Jerico has made and end the process in person, on the phone, or with a handwritten note.

   > The role we are offering would not make the most of your incredible talents. I have really enjoyed getting to know you and would like your permission to keep your information on file, so if we do have a position matching your profile and talent in the future, we can bring you back in. Thank you so much for your time, and I look forward to any future opportunities we may be able to share.

2. MOVE FORWARD if Jerico is a match—check their references

   > Thank you so much for your time today! I've asked you a lot of questions and now I'd like to switch gears and share the opportunity we have to offer (share the company vision). Let me tell you the role I think you can play in this (speak to their motivations/goals. Be persuasive and energetic).
   >
   > I'd like to continue the process by checking your references—could you please fill out our reference check form, sign it, and send it back to me as soon as possible? Once I have checked your references, I'll be in touch.
   >
   > I'd also like you to meet with the team. This will give you all a chance to get to know each other. Please ask them any questions you have about the job.
   >
   > (If you are arranging lunch) _____ (name of social chair) will be in touch to make lunch plans.
   >
   > (If team is immediately available) They can meet with you now. Would like a cup of coffee/glass of water?

6: Group

Step One: Prepare for the Group Interview

1. Invite the team members the candidate will be working with.
2. Go over your expectations—what questions would you like them to ask?
3. Share the highlights and any concerns from your interviews.
4. Go over Jerico's KPA - they can help you verify the profile.
5. Let them know this is not a democracy.

   > This is not a vote. It is your opportunity to give your feedback on how well you think Jerico will fit in with the team.

6. Check your mindset.
   - Make this the fun part!
     The Group Interview is not a serious grilling process, but rather an easygoing, casual, and friendly conversation between peers in a relaxed setting.

Step Two: Conduct the Group Interview

1. Designate the 'social chair'
   - You do not attend this interview!
   - Assign a person on your team who is friendly and sociable to spearhead this interview and be Jerico's reference point.
2. When the group returns from lunch/coffee, meet with them to gather their observations.
   - Do they think Jerico would be a good fit for the team? Yes No
   - Do they express any serious reservations? Yes No

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

Step Three: Decision Point

1. STOP if Jerico is not a match, and exit with class.

   At this point in the relationship, show respect for the time and effort Jerico has made and end the process in person, on the phone, or with a handwritten note.

   > The role we are currently offering would not be the best match for your considerable talents. I have really enjoyed getting to know you and would like your permission to keep your information on file, so if we do have a position matching your profile and talent in the future, we can bring you back in. Thank you so much for your time, and I look forward to any future opportunities we may be able to share.

2. MOVE FORWARD if Jerico is a match—check their references

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

7: Defense

Step One: Prepare for Defense

1. Share copies of all of the important documents you have collected.

    - The job profile and résumé
    - Notes from the screening phone call
    - Jerico's KPA Job Fit Report and your notes from the Verification process, including Thought Process
    - Flip charts and notes from the Life Story and Motivational interviews
    - Notes from the Group interview and reference-check process

Step Two: Conduct the Defense

The committee reviews steps 1, 2, and 3 of the process and brainstorms several key questions to draw out the upside and downside of a potential hire.

Step One—Filter

1. Review the job profile and résumé.
    - Does Jerico have the knowledge, skills, track record, and culture to get the job done? Where is Jerico's match? Where is he a mismatch?
    - Is Jerico Potential Talent, Emerging Talent, or Proven Talent?

Step Two—Interviews

1. Job Fit: did the verification confirm Jerico's personality profile is a match?
2. Thought Process: does his thinking and culture make him a good fit for our organization? Will he stay?
3. Life Story: does Jerico's track record show a pattern of success?
4. Motivation: will this role get him closer to achieving what he most values?

Step Three—Perspective

1. Did Jerico fit in with the team?
2. Does his references—including the 3-deep references—confirm that he can do what he says he can?

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

Brainstorm—With the team, think of every conceivable answer to these questions.

1. Can Jerico be successful in this position? Why?

2. Imagine he fails in the first year. What might be the one thing that could have caused that, based on what you know about Jerico? Can it be avoided?

3. Imagine Jerico is succeeding, yet decides to leave. What was probably the one thing that drove his decision? Can it be avoided?

Step Three: Decision Point

1. STOP if Jerico is not a match, and exit with class.

   At this point in the relationship, show respect for the time and effort Jerico has made and end the process in person, on the phone, or with a handwritten note.

   > The role we are offering would not make the most of your incredible talents. I have really enjoyed getting to know you and would like your permission to keep your information on file, so if we do have a position matching your profile and talent in the future, we can bring you back in. Thank you so much for your time, and I look forward to any future opportunities we may be able to share.

2. MOVE FORWARD if Jerico is a match—you are ready to make an offer!

   > Could you come back to meet with me _____ (date and time)? We'll need about an hour. Great! Thank you! Really looking forward to it!

Copyright © 2026 All Rights Reserved

8: Expectations and Offer

Step One: Prepare for Expectations Conversation

1. Review the expectations conversation and the topics you will be covering.

    - How candid you will be with each other when communicating honestly. This is a key to knowing how to communicate bad news.
    - What Jerico's “hot buttons” are on the job—how you win or lose with him.
    - How to handle sensitive issues.
    - The job description—what Jerico will actually be doing.
    - The standards Jerico will have to meet—what level of quality and service is required.
    - How you will hold him accountable.

Step Two: Conduct the Expectations Conversation

1. As you ask each of the questions, note the answer given. As you share your expectations, record them as well.

2. You may enter your answers on the document prior to the meeting with Jerico. If you do that, be sure to note any differences in the information you provide during the meeting on the form.

3. Give the completed form to Jerico and have him initial and date each page before returning it to you.

Step Three: Decision Point

1. It is unlikely that you or Jerico will opt out of going into business together at this stage of the process, but do not rule it out as an option. If the expectations conversation is not mutually satisfactory, it is not too late to hit the eject button!

Offer

Step One: Prepare for the Offer

1. Customize the offer letter and Orientation to Jerico.

2. Check your Mindset!

    - This is the first step of your future employer-employee relationship; set the tone by making a positive impact.

Step Two: Conduct the Offer

1. Be enthusiastic and convey your excitement to Jerico!

    - How many candidates did Jerico beat out? Tell him!
    - Describe what accomplishments really stood out and the impact you know he will make on your company.
    - Tell Jerico how impressed his future colleagues are and how excited they are to be working together.

2. Use the offer letter (following pages) to thoroughly explain the pay and benefits, as well as assuming his buy-in with the orientation schedule.

3. Get whatever commitment you can. Most candidates want time to consider the offer, but go ahead and ask Jerico what they think of the offer and tune into any hesitations you sense—you may be able to provide him with more information to influence his decision.

Step Three: Decision Point

1. It is unlikely that you or Jerico will opt out of going into business together at this stage of the process, but do not rule it out as an option. If the offer is not mutually satisfactory, it is not too late to hit the eject button!

Offer Letter

Warning: Before using this letter, be sure you have your attorney review it for issues that are state specific.

(DATE)

(CANDIDATE NAME AND ADDRESS)

Dear (FIRST NAME),

We are pleased to extend to you an offer of employment at (COMPANY) as a (POSITION). The terms of employment, commencing on or before (START DATE), will be as follows:

Compensation:

You will receive a/an (SALARY TIME PERIOD) salary of $(AMOUNT) to be paid (PAY PERIOD), subject to any and all necessary withholding and deductions for income taxes, FICA, Social Security, and similar items.

Benefits:

(COMPANY) offers a variety of benefits, including (BENEFITS LIST). Please refer to benefits documentation for specific details of the plans. You will receive your benefits package (BENEFITS PACKET RECEIVED DATE). Benefits are effective (WHEN BENEFITS START).

(STATE – DELETE IF PARAGRAPH DOESN'T APPLY) is an "At Will" employment state. Accordingly, your employment with (COMPANY) will be "at will," and can be terminated by you or by (COMPANY) at any time, with or without cause or advance notice. By accepting this job offer, you agree that no contrary representation has been made to you.

In no event shall your employment be construed as a contractual relationship between (COMPANY) and you, or guaranteeing employment for any specific period of time. In the event the employee decides to terminate the employment relationship, the company would appreciate 2 weeks written notice.

If you are in agreement with the above-mentioned terms, please confirm your agreement as soon as possible by signing the enclosed copy of this letter and returning it to us at your earliest convenience.

Orientation Schedule

If you choose to accept the position, (COMPANY) will be conducting an Employee Welcome and Orientation on your first day of employment. During the orientation, you will be introduced to the company systems and you will complete your payroll, benefits, and federally required employment paperwork.

The Orientation and Enrollment meetings have been scheduled for the following dates and times:

- Employee Welcome
  8:15 a.m. on (START DATE) with (CONTACT)
- New Employee Orientation
  8:30 a.m. on (START DATE) with (CONTACT)
- Post-Offer Drug Test
  You will be sent to the appropriate off-site location

(COMPANY) is required by federal law to verify your eligibility to work in the United States. It is critical that you bring the items, listed below, to the orientation meeting. Without them, we will be unable to process a paycheck for you or enroll you, or your dependents, in our benefits plan.

- You will need form(s) of personal identification to complete your I-9 Form. Typically employees may bring their Social Security card and driver's license or your passport. Please see the attached list for acceptable documents.
- If you would like to take advantage of direct deposit, please bring a copy of a voided check for the banking account(s) involved.
- You will also need the birth dates and Social Security numbers of your family members if you plan to enroll them in the group health insurance or life insurance plans.

We are all excited at the prospect of your joining us here at (COMPANY), and believe that the confidence we have in your ability will be more than justified by your contributions in the years ahead.

Sincerely,

(PERSON MAKING OFFER)
